Downpour fails to dampen band's Bicentennial spirit

After a year of hard work raising the money, the band finally departed at Sky Harbor Airport, June 30, bound for Philadelphia and America's Bicentennial Celebration parade.

Besides marching for miles in the rain, the band visited all the shrines of American liberty, such as the Liberty Bell and Constitution Hall. They were only one of two bands from Arizona asked to perform at the Bicentennial.

Although the rain dampened their spirits, finding a dry cleaner open to mop up on the uniforms was even more difficult.

While they were there, the band was also asked to perform at the Kennedy center for the Performing Arts in Washington which led to another round of sightseeing.

Accompanying the band were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Connolly, Mr. and Mrs. David Goodson, and Mr. and Mrs. Ross Watson.

The band returned to Phoenix at 1 a.m. July 7.

Book sale beckons students from summertime pursuits

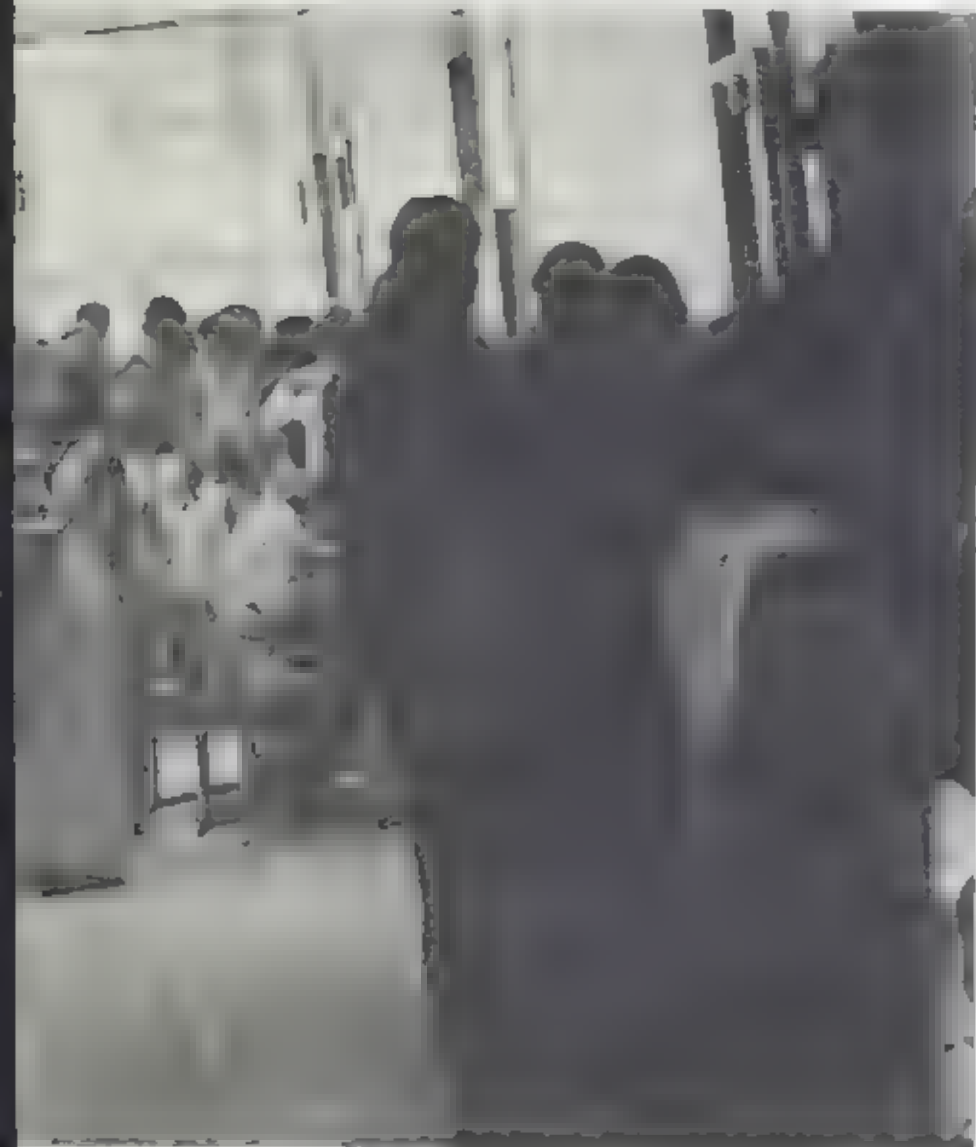

The sale of books in the fall, like construction at 59th and Indian School, always signals the end of summer and the return to school for another year.

Great crowds of students, first the seniors and then the other classes, swarm onto campus to form long lines waiting to gain entrance into the halls where they bought books and yearbooks and recieved identification cards and locker assignments.

After making their purchases, students stored their new possessions in their newly-assigned lockers and took off for the lakes to try to capture as much of the fading summer as possible; then they returned on the Tuesday after Labor Day to endure the wait until the next summer vacation which will also be ended by the traditional book sale

Football team ranks first at MHS pep assemblies

Panther football may have lost its number one ranking as far as the media are concerned, but it was always first when it came time for an assembly.

The poms pommed and the cheers cheered.

The most memorable skit featured the poms in a Bat Person mystery.

The pep band kept things moving along with the fight song as well as the one that reminded everyone of his favorite beverage.

In another skit, various people got chunked with gunk of all kinds imaginable. The punchline of this particular silly was, "No matter if it's a spray, roll-on cream or powder, the Panthers will win, no sweat."

Gags, games, music liven up lunch at MHS

Whether it was the sale of candy, a tug of war or running in a shoe relay race, Maryvale students found a variety of activities going on during lunch breaks this year.

Although most were sponsored by student government to offer recreation to the students, many were sponsored by other clubs to raise money or other worthwhile purposes.

One of the most popular activities was the pie throw sponsored by the Black Student Union. At this event, students could, for a price, fling pies at various functionaries around campus, mainly Mr. Kindall, and Mr. Shackelford.

At other times, rock bands and the Maryvale musicians played concerts. These were quite well-received.

Sock hoppers hustle, bump as disco sounds resound

As live bands priced themselves out of the market, discos became the favorite form of dances. Instead of the sounds of locals, students were able to dance to favorite records as the after game sock hops drew huge crowds into the gym.

The junior class started the fad as they sponsored the first

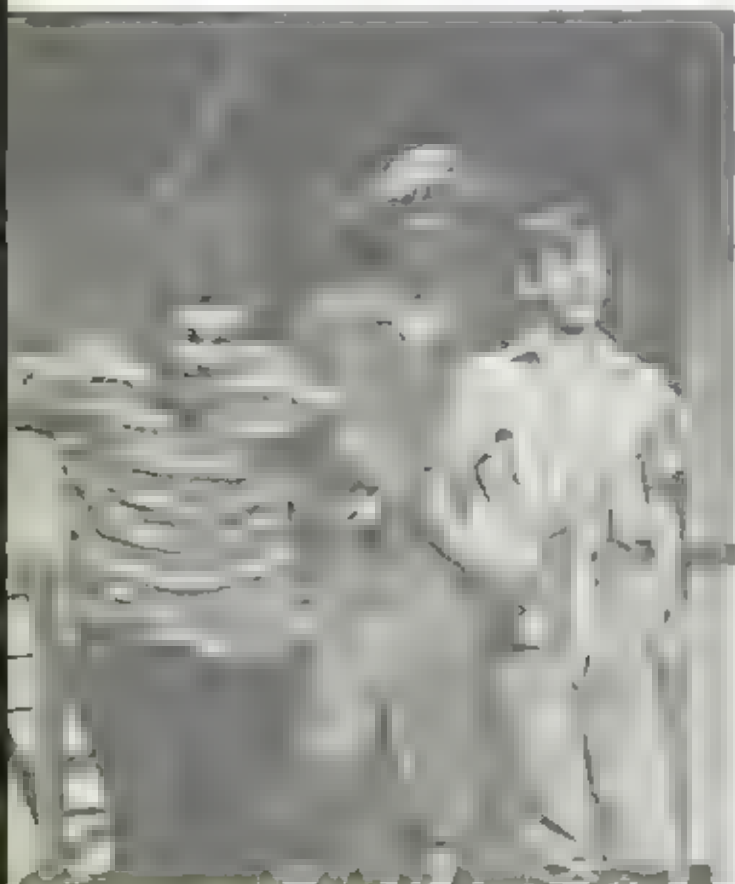

disco sock hop after the Glendale football game

Deanne Johnson and Brian Cutting were crowned at the biggest dance of all: The Girls' League Formal, December 11. The formal carried the theme "Feelings of Love," and featured a live band: Situation, a local rock group.

In "Gazebo," Phil Vasile is interrupted in his murder scheme by a phone call (Right), and becomes squeamish under the accusing eye of his neighbor, the police commissioner, played by Mike Traylor (Far Upper Right). Husband and wife argue about a missing shower curtain (Bottom Left). Jay Jones, alias Tom Sawyer, Sings with his friends about "fishin'" (Below), and meets Becky Thatcher (Dee Ann Kindall) (Far Lower Right).

Thespian talent showcased in mystery, two musicals

A mystery and two musicals gave the thespians three vehicles to display different talents.

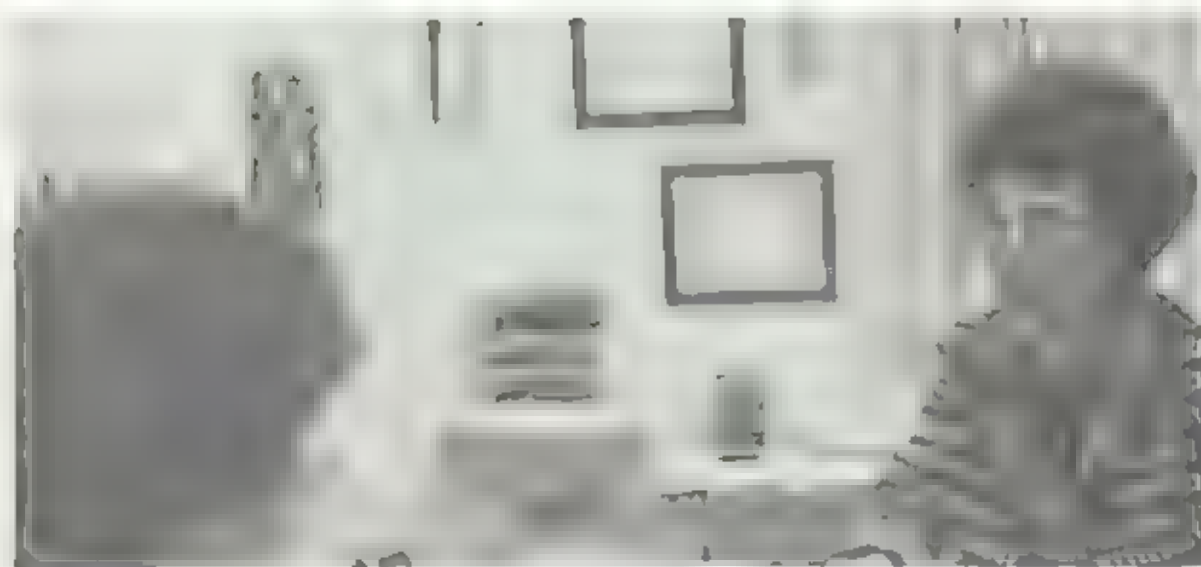

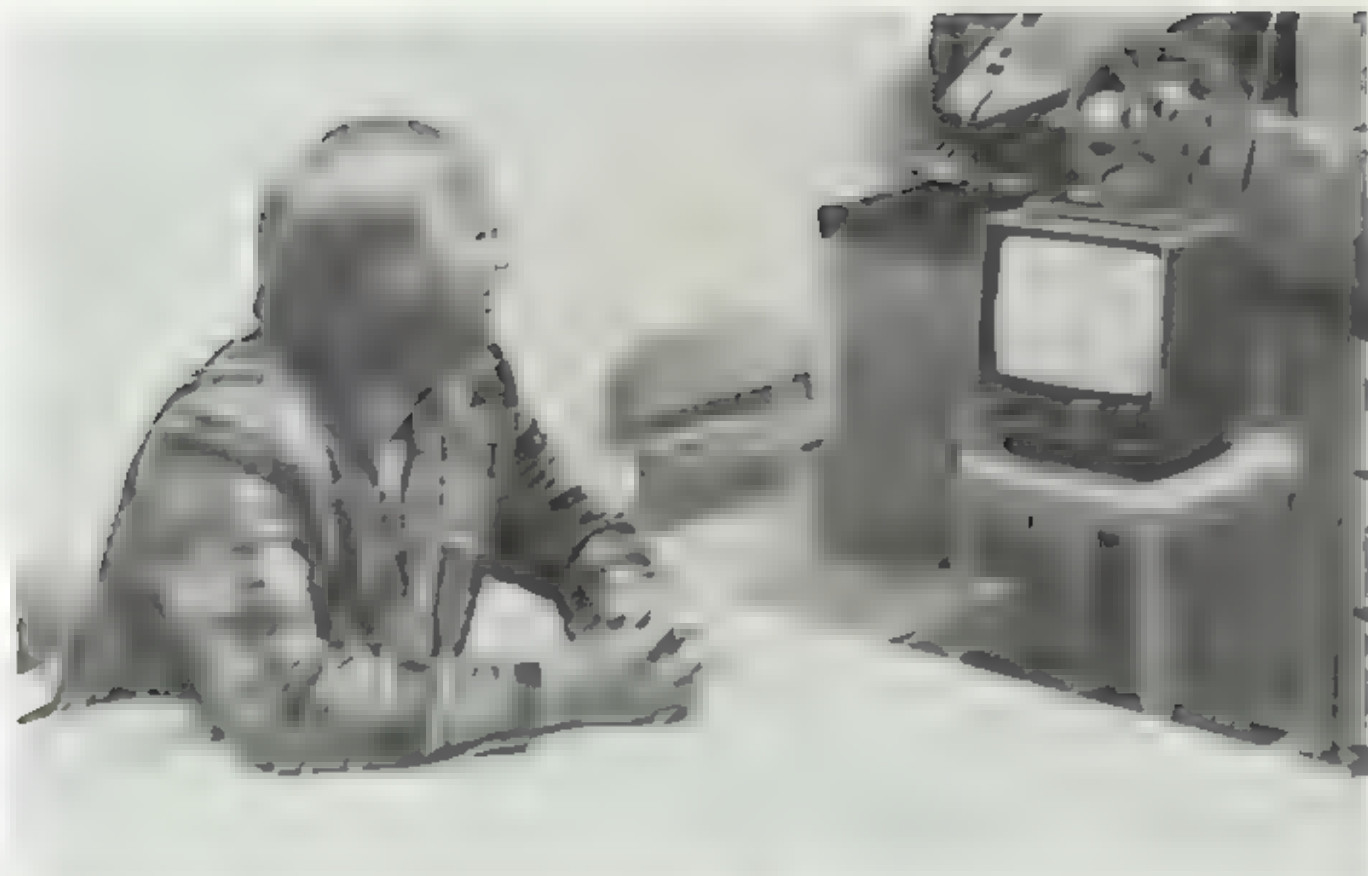

Gazebo, the mystery, featured the acting talent while Tom Sawyer showed what the students could do in set building. Camelot, as well as Tom Sawyer, served the purpose when singing and dancing were needed.

Appreciative audiences cheered highlights of all productions, but particularly the cave scene in Tom Sawyer. The scene showed what could be done by set designers.

The costumers and make-up crews were especially effective in Camelot.

Open House draws parents as chili supper adds spice

Students' home away from home was again visited by their parents on the annual Open House, November 15.

To add spice to the evening this year, the festivities began with a chili supper for the hungry, at 5 p.m.

Besides the traditional visit with junior's teachers to find out how the "little rascal" was doing, the parents were entertained by performing arts and ROTC groups.

This year parents were also taken on tours of the new buildings and facilities that had been added since the last open house.

Last on the program was serving of refreshments to all the visitors and teachers. This was done in the cafeteria where everyone could visit.

Panthers start season ranked first in Arizona

Before the Panthers marched onto the field for the first game, they were rated seventeenth in the nation by Joe Namath's National Prep Sports magazine and first in the state by both the Arizona Republic and Arizona Prep Magazine.

Also cited were two three letter men: Jack Housley and Ken Davis as best in Arizona.

Only one of these predictions came true. Housley was the only player named to both the offensive and defensive All-State teams. He was also named captain of that team as well as Player of the Year by the Republic. Dick Harkins was awarded the Thom McAn award for student athlete of the year.

Except for one game, the Panthers might have lived up to their pre-season promise. The South Mountain Rebels took the measure of the Panthers, 9-0, dropped them from the ranks of the unbeaten and rudely awakened them from their dream of a state championship.

Except in the South game, Panther power was tested in only three games: Camelback, Moon Valley, and Central.

The Panthers routed five teams on their way to an 8-1 season. Glendale fell first, 55-0, as the offense tallied the first four times it had the ball and eight different Panthers had a hand in the scoring.

Camelback proved tough in the mud and rain that caught up with Phoenix football this year. Maryvale used a two-point conversion to go ahead in the third quarter, 20-19, then scored again in the fourth quarter to down the stubborn Spartans 27-19.

Three breathers followed as the Panther steamroller crushed Carl Hayden, 47-7 Trevor Browne, 35-7; and Alhambra, 30-12. The Trevor Browne game retired the Browne-Maryvale travelling trophy as the Panthers beat the Bruins for the third straight time.

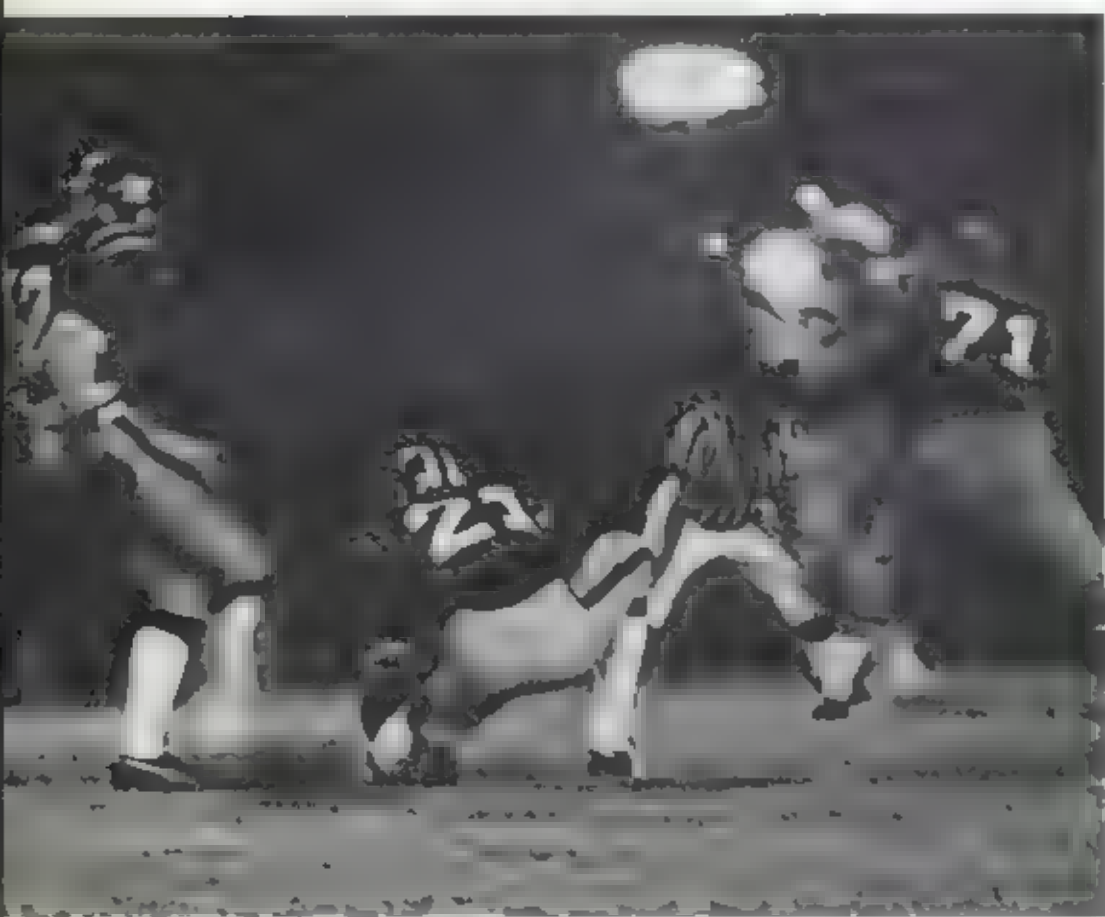

Wet weather was a factor in the Moon Valley game. Pitted against the fourth-ranked Rockets, the Panthers' offense scored in the second quarter on a Moreno run and the defense proved more than adequate as they turned the Rocket runners and passers back repeatedly when they had the audacity to get close to the Panther goal line. North High's Mustangs proved no match for the Panthers in the first league game, but then along came South Mountain and with all the marbles, otherwise known as an undefeated season, a homecoming victory, and quite possibly the state championship, on the line, the Rebels scored a touchdown and a field goal while the Panther offense could not get untracked. The Central game was exciting but anticlimactic as the Panthers used a two-point play to defeat Bobcats, 15-14. The 24-0 defeat of East gave the Panthers a 9-1 season.

Prospects dim as golfers start drive for links division crown

If the boys' golf team prospects were as bright as their new shirts, things would indeed be looking up for the linksters.

As it is, Coach Jerry Hicks will depend on a mixture of veterans and youth to carry the team and when this happens, it usually signals a poor season. However, if the youngsters come through as sometimes happens, the Panther swingers could be tough by the end of the season just in time for the division and state tournaments where everything is decided.

Valleys hurt peaks; Cats finish 12-10

The varsity basketball season was one marked with a lot of peaks and valleys. The Panthers pulled together the second half of the regular season to gain a respectable 12-10 record and a berth in the Phoenix Union High School division playoffs.

The Panthers then fell to Glendale 56-45 and wiped out West 53-31 but a fourth period rush against Alhambra fell short 72-67.

The Panthers next beat Carl Hayden, lost to Phoenix Union and in one of the most exciting games of the year, beat Camelback on a 20-foot jump shot by David Weaver with three seconds left in the game.

Entering League B play, the Cats hosted the East Longhorns and were beaten 51-44 even though they trailed by only one point in the fourth quarter and missed several chances to go ahead. Maryvale beat Paradise Valley 59-58 on a free throw by Carlos Fierros, with eight seconds left. They lost to Central and South before getting on the winning track again by destroying North 84-53. They, then, dropped their twelfth straight game to East, 54-44.

Maryvale scored one of the more stunning upsets of the season when they handed third-ranked St. Mary's only its third loss in 19 games, 64-58.

The season came to an abrupt end in the first game of the playoffs when the Cats dropped the game to Alhambra 87-70

The team also wrestled in the Chaparral Invitational in Las Vegas where they pulled down a third place and placed fourth in the Peoria Invitational. Housley and Siqueiros both won championships and Housley was named outstanding wrestler at both meets.

Maryvale qualified ten men for state at the Phoenix Di-

"I feel this is the best season I have had as a coach," said Johnson, "but I wish we could have won State."

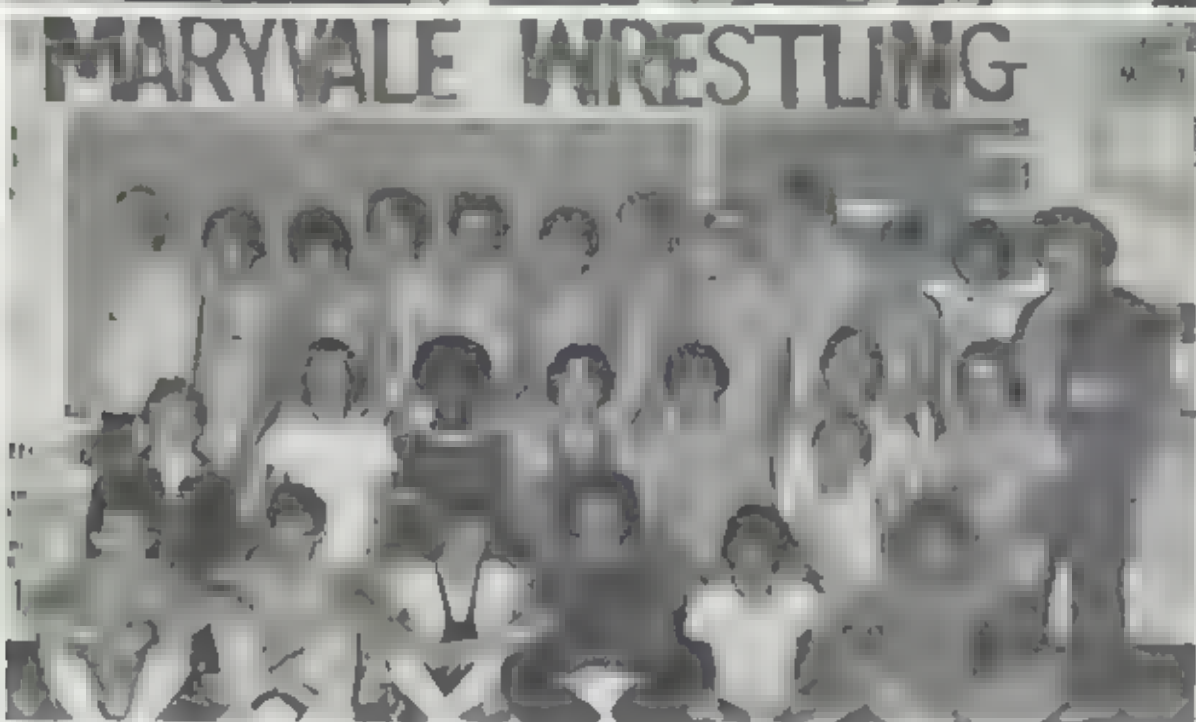

Mesa won the championship with 94 points, Tucson Sunnyside was second with 86 while Maryvale mustered 83.

Team shows improvement in eight track-field events

Coach Bev Bostrom's girl's track team was an unknown quantity, but the boys figured to be stronger in eight events according to Coach Ralph Neighbors

Sprinter Dwight Jones was singled out for praise by Neighbors: "He is probably the fastest sprinter in the State."

In addition, Roger Schilling

in the discus and shot put, Dick Harkins in the intermediate hurdles, Phil Peterson in the one and two mile-runs, and Beaver Davis in the pole vault were expected to improve the team in their events.

Toughest competition for the year was expected to come from East, Westwood and Chandler.

Seven of the starting lineup were seniors. Besides Moreno they were Catcher Ron Mills, Second baseman Art Garcia, Shortstop Henry Benavidez, Third Baseman Jim Marichalar, Leftfielder Ron Reed and Centerfielder Jack Hammonds. Right field and first base were contested by Bob Macy, Matt Smith, Dan Maxwell and Steve Pavoggi.

The panthers beat Alhambra and West highs in their first two games of the season.

Government acquires new room, sponsor, constitution

Student government took on a whole new look this year, in triplicate.

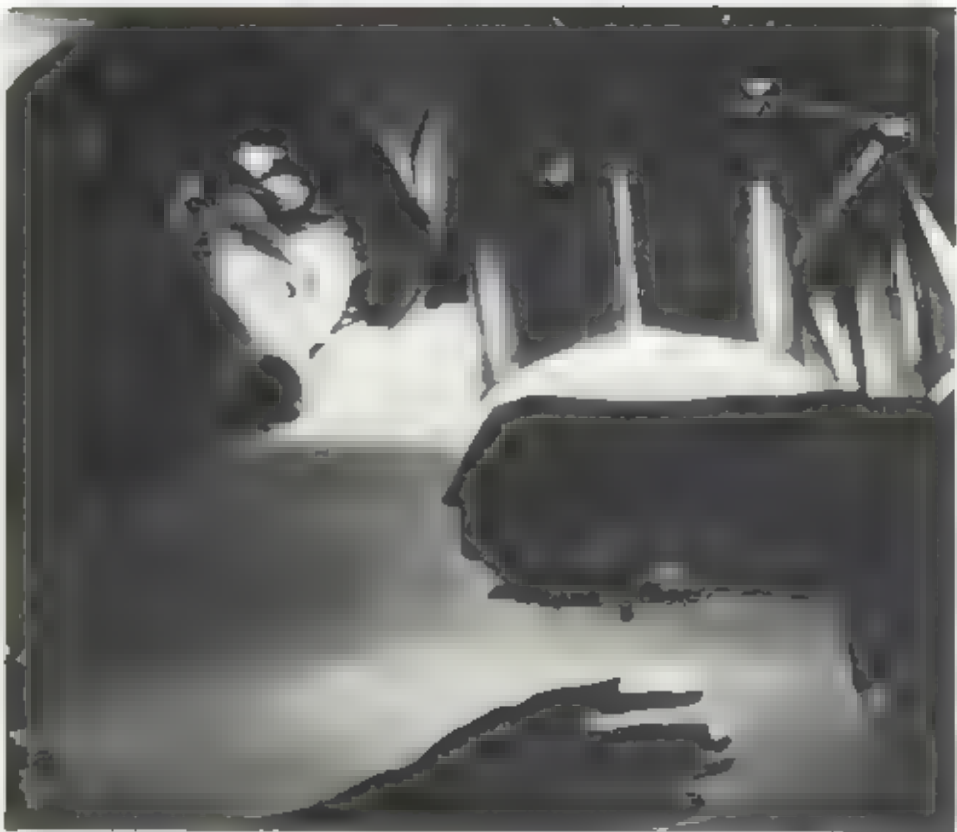

Along with many other groups, student government spent much time waiting for their new quarters from which to govern. They finally moved into the remodeled security room on the south side of the library.

Another change saw Dorann Thoreen replace Richard Kemper as sponsor.

The biggest change as far as student life was concerned was the institution of the new constitution which replaced student senate with the associated student council. Club and class representatives along with class and student body officers meet together to give more even representation.

Panthorian staff recruits females for cheerleaders

The yearbook staff, following the precedent set last year, was dominated by people of the male persuasion. It suffered from many of the same problems listed in last year's book, but the dominance was so great this year that a new problem arose: the lack of feminine companionship during those long, cold, deadline nights.

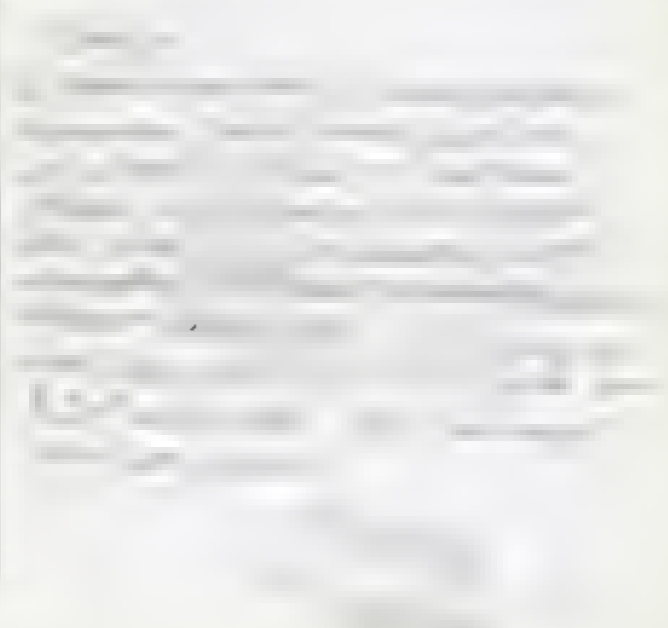

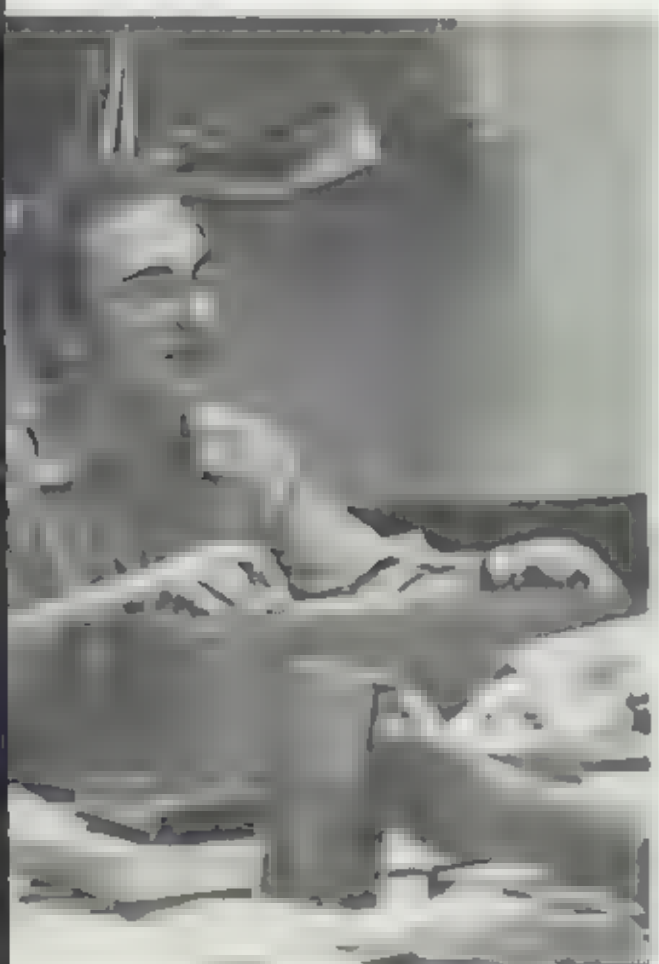

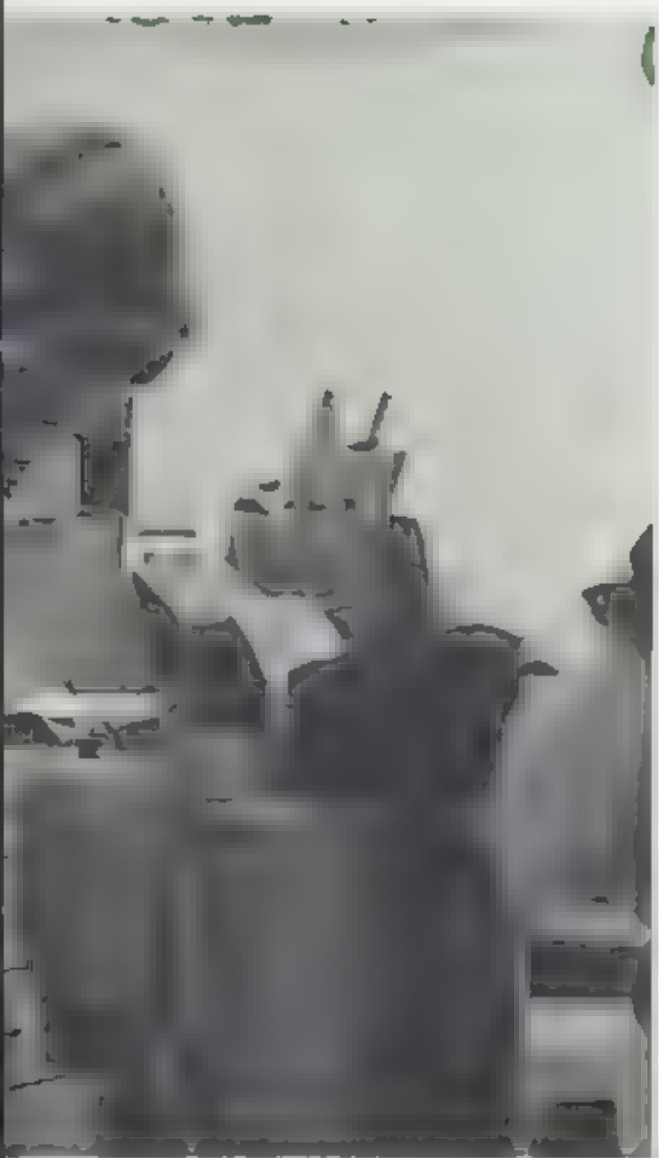

This problem, as all others, was brainstormed by the staff. Most of the ideas were too obscene to print. Few of the others were practical.

Finally, it was decided that since the Panthorian staff is much like an athletic team, they should recruit a team of cheerleaders to urge them on to meet their goals.

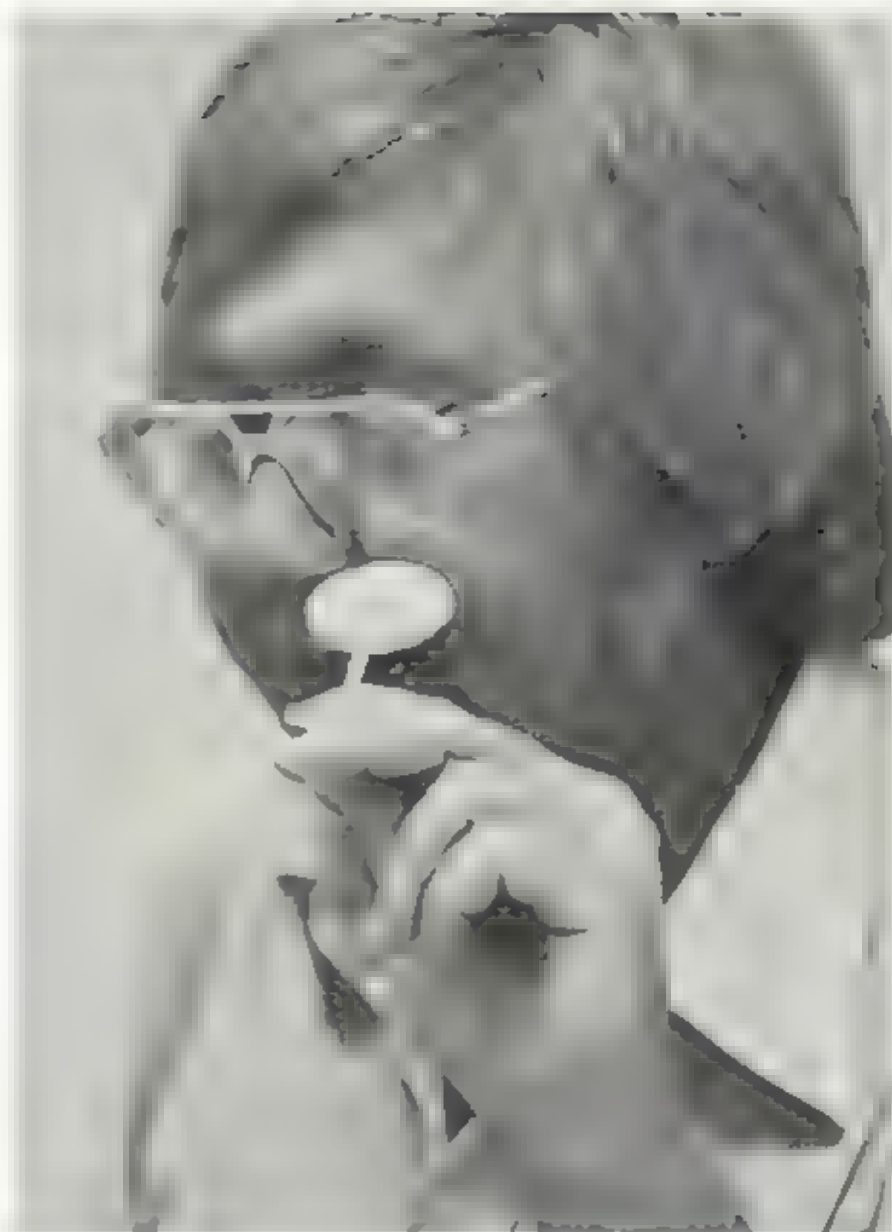

And that is why students leaving the basketball game on the night of January 28 heard the following emanating from the publications room:

"Write that headline!
Siss! Boom! Bah!
Meet that deadline!
Rah! Rah! Rah!"

Photographers have to be watched or they suffer from darkroom lag. Symptoms of this rare disease are exhibited by Tim Silbaugh (Far Upper Left) and Troy Williams (Upper Left). In Tim's case, it is a fascination for light of any kind. In Troy's, it is a mania to carry girls to the darkroom, in this case, Tami Olsen. Only Editor Mike Bass (Left Center) and Advisor Earl Stinson (Right) could keep the wierd crew at Far Left at work and happy. They are Nick Barry, Alison Silbaugh, Troy Williams, Pat Satterfield, Mark Carlson, Tim Silbaugh, Chuck Chesser, Mary Leggin, Kathy Robinson, Tami Olsen. Front Row: Mike Bass Unfortunately, newspaper production was done during fourth hour and staffers took advantage of the snackbar rather than write stories. These people and their whimsical descriptions are Jeff Messner, related to his father; love spreader Brenda Lowe, ad manager Mark Carlson; super serious and sober sports editor Armando De Leon; rich Lynn Rikas; latecomer Steve Criscione; fantastically gifted and handsome Richard Powers; charming and precocious Ron Dickson; Pat (but you can call me Pat) Satterfield; and gifted Tim Gift. Which one is the sucker? Advisor Earl Stinson (Right) enjoys his. Enjoyment was paramount on the staff and Lynn Rikas enjoyed looking at the camera and sitting on Richard Powers' lap. Sometimes, things were serious as Jeff Messner (Center Right) and Richard and Ron Dickson (Lower Right) prove.

'Tracks' staff adds interest with whimsy

With an editor with the puckish sense of humor of Ron Dickson, it was inevitable that a column devoted to whimsy would delight the readers of Panther Tracks this year.

Called "Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow" the column used Mesabic irony, hot cross puns, and awful alliteration to make Muhammed mountains into anthills.

Among the weighty problems the column reduced to ashes were Panther football, new educational programs, construction (or the lack of it), Mr. Salt, Thespians, Welcome Back Kotter, security, freshman orientation, Poms, Cheers, student government, and Panther Tracks.

Of course, the newspaper contained other material, some of it news, but that was soon forgotten. Whimsy lives on

Poms march with band in Bicentennial Parade

Under the direction of Blanche Berry, the Poms did their precision dancing after every Panther touchdown during the football season, which forced them to do an awful lot of dancing.

They also helped develop skits for the pep assembly as well as perform at those assemblies.

The Poms accompanied the band on its trip to Philadelphia and marched in the Bicentennial parade

They also entertained crowds at home basketball games during time-outs.

Building delays harass administration

When Maryvale opened, more or less, this year, the administration faced an almost impossible task. Construction which was to have been completed by September 1 dragged on, but school for 3200 students could not wait.

Principal David Goodson and Associate Principal George Miller were equal to the challenge, however, as they unflappably utilized every teacher and every classroom to maximum capacity.

The problems they faced daily were best described by Ron Dickson in the first issue of Panther Tracks. Ron wrote about a freshman who lost his books when "I just laid them down to eat lunch and while I was gone someone put a building on the spot."

Despite these problems, life at Maryvale went on, some of it nearly normal. The fact that it went on at all was largely due to the efforts of Mr. Goodson and Mr. Miller. In his spare time, when he has it, Mr. Goodson plays amateur hockey in a league. Mr. Miller likes to hunt and fish. He is also Maryvale's resident expert in Arizona history and geography.

Schooland joins administration; Hamlin leaves

"Win a few, lose a few" could have been the slogan of the Goodson administrative team this year. Bernard Magnusson and Wayne Kindall, both winners, returned. Joining the winner's circle was Jeanne Schooland who came to Maryvale from West High. She is the wife of former associate principal John Schooland.

Lost to the staff were Jane Hamlin, who moved to West, and evening school director Vae Geiler.

New quarters new, wonderful when finished

When Maryvale High School opened for business last fall, much of the new space that was to be available wasn't.

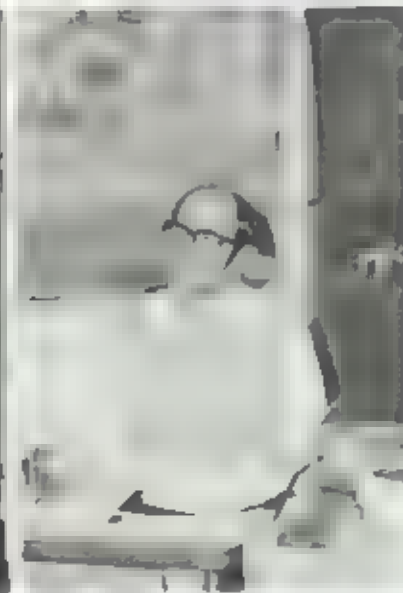

The expansion program that was to afford more space for the 3200 student body was still expanding. For a while students had a hard time telling construction workers from teachers.

When it was all finished, however, the new classroom area, called the 900 building, absorbed learners from three other buildings: math from 200, reading from 300 and art from 700. The building also served as a site for the state-mandated programs for exceptional students.

Building 300 changed little by remodeling

Only the 300 building came through the remodeling practically unscathed by the remodelers. It suffered only slight revision to accommodate business classes in the former reading area. The English and foreign languages departments stayed to fill up the rest of the space.

The science and social studies departments got some added space with the departure of math but they had to share the 200 building with a larger bookstore which moved from the 100 building in order to make way for offices for other school services.

IMC enlarged; publications, AV change rooms

The 700 building underwent extensive remodeling and enlargement to furnish more room for expanded physical education programs and to provide the performing arts (drama, band and orchestra) with quarters to meet their special needs. Health classes moved in from the temporary buildings' no-man's land. Industrial arts, as usual, stayed pretty much the same.

The 400 building was enlarged to house an expanded library, or officially the Instructional Materials Center (IMC), and to give audio-visual and publications a chance to play musical rooms. Also added were the Americana and Humanities rooms for social studies and English classes to use when they visit the library as a group. A TV studio, better known as the Bionic Classroom, was added to the southwest corner.

Ostraat heads new program; aids exceptional

All the facilities were something new and wonderful and late. Students and teachers at Maryvale once again showed their adaptability as they ducked beams, ladders and newly-installed light fixtures on their way to and from classes for several weeks. Once the new facilities were in place and permanent, there was not that much new about the curriculum. The newest were the courses offered in the exceptional students program.

Under the guidance of former counselor, Lois Ostraat, the department was designed to help all students who, it was thought, could function better outside a traditional classroom.

New building provides space for classrooms

Included in this program, which is housed in the new 900 building, are classes for students with learning problems severe enough that they are taught in self-contained classrooms.

Students with lesser learning problems but who have a hard time coping in a classroom along with 35 other students get help in the learning resource center where they receive attention on a one-to-one basis to facilitate their learning. Students with hearing and visual problems also benefit from this program.

Content resource teachers from different departments were available to help students in a particular discipline.

Able, talented gain entrance into seminar

The seminar program gave students with particular abilities and talents a chance to work on special projects within the realm of his interests and skills. These seminars were directed by seasoned teachers in four departments: art, English, science and social studies.

In addition to the teachers, the exceptional student department also had the services of a full-time counselor, Meredith Singer, and psychologist, Robert Martin, for help in crisis situations.

Most of the new teachers at Maryvale this year were part of this new program. They were Joyce Werner, Yvonne Allegretti, Don Johnson, Bruce Fogel, Roberta Glazier, and Theresa Glenn.

New Department uses veterans for resource

Departmental content resource teachers, not new, were Judy Harkelroad, social studies; Gayle Jarvis, science; Ina Ewing, reading; Carol Gilbert, math; Jean Kilker, English.

Elizabeth Meineke, Dorothy Thomas, Dan Cain and John Strickland directed the seminar projects in art, English, social studies, and science, respectively. Berniel Drake counseled the group.

Other new faces were Lee Barclay, A-V director; Ann Bruce, Social studies; Susan Carus, performing arts; Marilyn Durocher, English; Frank Madura and Ann Stine, physical education and health, and Robert Johnson, counseling.

Crews provide support, safety, cleanness, food

When anyone thinks of school, they immediately think of teachers, buildings, students and administrators. Yet, there is a group of persons no less important to a well-run institution. They are the secretaries and clerks who help the administrators and teachers, keep the records of students and decorate the buildings just with their presence

They are the security people who protect the students and teachers and keep the buildings from harm

They are the custodians who keep the buildings clean and fix the little things that do go wrong so that students and teachers can make the most out of their environment

They are the cafeteria workers who feed the students, teachers, administrators, clerks, security people, and custodians so that all can do better jobs

Autographs

Autographs

Since 3,200 people couldn't be on staff to make this yearbook, it was done by a handful of people who put in much of their time (many days before and after school, Friday nights, Saturdays, and almost all holidays) and effort. Special thanks are due from the entire population of MHS to:

Mr. Earl Stinson for his time, patience, support, ideas, and extra food money.

My staff (including Heidi Chesser and Lynn Rikast) for obvious reasons.

All of the families involved for their understanding while I borrowed a person or two on those long, long deadline nights and days.

I wish to personally thank everyone, especially Patsy Brubeck, for their support during this book's production, and my parents for not moving until I finished school here at Maryvale.

They all helped make this book

For You.

Peace,

To Terri

Hope to see you next year. And Good luck with the Group of "78." Keep up the Good Spirit Stay. Sweet, sister.
Good luck.

Veronica.

To Terri,

Thanks for noting for me and for everything else. Hope to see you at some more games.
I will start to drive
straighten when you along.

Love you,

Mike West

Terri,

It WAS A GREAT YEAR.
I won't forget any of it.
Hope to see you over the summer, angel. KSP.

Terri,

It was nice knowing you in typing Stay the way you are. Good luck forever. You're really CRAZY. Hope to see you next year.

Luv & Luck

Debbie Wenner

Terri,

It was fun having you in health, we sure learned a lot in
and tri - didn't we?
It was a lot of fun tho. KSP and cheering for us - sometimes we read
it. Steve

To To s + only s well & as you always are,
and remember to KS F.

Herri
stay an angel and be good. Don't do anything I wouldn't do, and good luck.

F. C.
